

BOY MEETS DEATH IN A SAND POOL

Slips Into Deep Water and Drowns in Sight of His Companions.

LOSES HIS LIFE WHILE WADING IN STREAM

Slips on a Shelving Bank and Sinks Out of Sight at Once.

Little Harry Earl Wilkinson, the 11-year-old son of Nicholas Wilkinson, is dead at his home, 16 South Sixth West street. He met his death by drowning about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon in a sand pool a few yards east of the roundhouse.

The lad, accompanied by Arthur Richards and Alban Nelson, boys about the same age, went fishing in the pool a few hours before the tragedy, but meeting with no success, decided to go wading. While paddling around in the water young Wilkinson slipped on a shelving bank and sank out of sight of his companions. Before they could reach the water he had disappeared into the deep water into which the hapless lad had floundered, he was dead.

Body Carried Home.
Richards and Nelson gave the alarm, and Thomas, an employee of the city water works, shortly afterward took the body from the pool and carried it to the horrified parents, who had already heard the sad news.

Young Wilkinson was a pupil at the Jackson school. His father is a calculator in the Rio Grande yards.

No Inquest.
There will be no inquest, and if the wishes of the parents are considered, the body will not be removed from the residence.

BIG TIME AT CALDER'S

Monday's Programme Interesting and Jolly Outing Announced Today.

The Farmers ward and Forest Dale ward choirs had a day at Calder's park yesterday which will long be remembered by the 500 people who participated in it as one for a jolly good time. Although the two choirs have been having considerable trouble among themselves of late in the line of contesting for championship honors, there was nothing but a congenial feeling yesterday. There were fifty of the Farmers ward choir and seventy-five from Forest Dale present, the friends of the two making up the larger part of the attendance. In the afternoon things were quiet at the park, but in the evening, after the singers began to arrive, everything was busy from the new shoot-the-bottle contest, the electric launch to the popcorn stand. Dancing was the attraction for most of the crowd, the large pavilion being taxed to its capacity during the whole evening.

Fifty lady clerks of Z. C. M. I. were in evidence in the evening. The young ladies took the resort by storm and had a gay time until midnight, being guests of the management of several of the attractions at the resort. The young ladies were out for a jolly good time, and they all went home satisfied. At Calder's today the Granite State Sunday-school will be on hand, with probably the liveliest programme that has been seen at the resort this season.

Horse races of the country style will be held in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. Assistant Superintendent Alex J. Hill of Granger will have charge of the races of the day, and the "Suburbanites" of the horse events and prizes awarded the winners.

A baseball game between the "Albatrosses," picked from the south end of Granite state, and the "Suburbanites" from the north end will be started at 5 o'clock. Five thousand people are expected to be at the resort during the day.

ELECTION CASE IS ON

Supreme Court Hearing Arguments in Second District Matter.

The Supreme court, in adjourned session, Monday morning, began hearing arguments in the election contest case of Daniel Hamner, contestant and appellant, against J. A. Howell, the contestant, which involves the office of Judge of the Second Judicial District court.

The contest was brought by Hamner on behalf of H. H. Rolap, former Judge of the district. The hearing before the lower court was presided over by Judge Morse of the Third District court, and Howell was declared elected by a majority of 101.

The contention of the appellants is that the lower court erred in counting certain illegal votes for Howell. Also that Howell violated the statutes in promising before the election positions to certain parties in consideration of receiving their votes at the election.

The case will probably occupy the attention of the court during the entire day today. C. C. Richards of Ogden and O. W. Powers of Salt Lake represent the appellants, and W. L. Magnuson and J. N. Kimball of Ogden represent the contestee.

FEAST OF SONG

One Hundred Singers Have Delightful
Evening at Home of Prof. Stephens.

The singers of the city, numbering close to 100 assembled last night at the beautiful suburban home of Prof. Evan Stephens, corner of State and Twelfth South streets, in response to his invitation to attend a musical party and reunion. The evening was given over almost wholly to a feast of song.

The grounds surrounding the house were lighted by Japanese lanterns and electric lights. Refreshments, consisting of punch, lemonade and cake, were served. The cool country air was a temptation to many to remain outside the house. Circles of chairs were arranged for these guests and they enjoyed the music at a distance.

The party was in a measure a preliminary to the big musical gathering to take place at Saltair next Friday. At the party last night, "Lucia Sextette," by Donzetti, and "Rigoletto Quartette," by Verdi, were the leading soloists of the city, accompanied by the Royal Hawaiian band, will participate in the principal performances at Saltair next Friday. All the singers present will join in the choruses. Besides the above mentioned numbers, National songs will be sung and will be accompanied by the band.

WESTERN PACIFIC WORK PROGRESSING

Division Engineer Harlowe Talks of Construction of New Line.

SCARCITY OF LABOR IS BEING KEENLY FELT

Solution of Tramp Problem Might Relieve the Difficulty.

Charles Harlowe, division engineer of the Western Pacific, in charge of the Nevada division, with headquarters at Winnemucca, is a guest at the Knutsford, being here on consultation with Chief Engineer Eogee.

In a running chat, Mr. Harlowe said, among other things:
"After three years of unremitting work we have located our line and are now building from our locations. The general line will run through Salt Lake, Silver Zone, Flower Lake and Beckwith passes, and nowhere on the line, on mountain or plain, have we a grade of more than 1 per cent. In fact, our grade over the Sierras is only four-tenths of 1 per cent."

"I am working in charge of the Feather river (California) improvements, which present unusual engineering difficulties. We follow the Sacramento valley from Orville, and the north fork of the Feather, and go thence through the divide to the middle fork of the Feather and then through Beckwith pass."

"Of course I can tell nothing of what is being done on this end, only I know we are laying track every day, and that we would lay more here and at other points, only we have not the men. Material is at hand, and we can obtain all we need on call, but labor is scarce."

REDMAN COMPANY SUED

Mrs. L. B. Moore Says Her Goods Were Lost by Defendant.

Mrs. L. B. Moore has filed suit in the Third District court against the Redman Van and Storage company in the sum of $1000. In her complaint Mrs. Moore alleges that on November 2, 1905, she delivered with the defendant company household goods valued at $1000, which were to be stored and cared for by the company and delivered to the plaintiff at such time as she required them.

Mrs. Moore further alleges that the company so negligently and carelessly conducted itself with regard to care of the goods that they were wholly lost to her and have not been returned to her. A copy of the complaint was served on the defendant Monday, which was admitted and a voluntary appearance was entered. The defendant asked for thirty days in which to plead.

SMELTER SMOKE PROBLEM

Prof. Carpenter of Golden Comes Here to Investigate.

Prof. F. R. Carpenter, formerly president of the Colorado State School of Mines, situated at Golden, that State, arrived in Salt Lake Sunday. Prof. Carpenter has a national reputation as a metallurgist, and the object of his visit to Salt Lake is to investigate the smelter smoke and fume problem as it exists in this valley and which has been the cause of great loss of crops and complex litigation. Prof. Carpenter has a process for condensing these fumes and turning the sulphur products into commercial value, which it is hoped will be effective in this locality. After learning the conditions that prevail here Prof. Carpenter will apply himself to conducting experiments for solving the problem.

SWANSON ASKS DAMAGES

Suit for $25,000 Is Filed Against the Oregon Short Line.

Emil Swanson has filed suit in the Third District court against the Oregon Short Line Railroad company to recover damages in the sum of $25,000, for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained while in the employ of the company, and due to carelessness on the part of the company.

Swanson alleges that December 14, 1905, he was employed as carpenter on the roof of a building being erected by the Short Line company and that, due to a defective support upon which he was working, he was thrown to the ground a distance of 20 feet, and received a fracture of the right ankle, which necessitated his confinement in the hospital for about seventy-five days.

WILL SMOOT TENDER HIS RESIGNATION?

Apostle's Latest Is Talk of Resigning if Senate Should Retain Him.

Apostle Senator Reed Smoot comes home with a new scheme, if what his friends say is true. The Senator is full of talk about how anxious he is, or was, to have a vote upon the question of his retention of a seat in the Senate, but this is mere bluff. He wants nothing of the kind.

View of Prominent Mormon.

Talking with The Tribune Monday a prominent Mormon said: "Smoot don't want a vote on his case, nor did he at the last session, for the reason that should the Senate vote to retain him in his seat, a matter not at all likely, he will at once tender his resignation. This he has promised the church leadership."

"Of course he may not carry out this promise, but if the wishes of the Mormon people were consulted in the matter he would resign now. His holding on in the Senate does not meet with the approval of 60 per cent of the church."

Menace to Prosperity of State.

"He is a menace to the peace and prosperity of Utah and the nation, he is a threat to the peace and prosperity of the Federal court not to make public their action, claiming that its publication might defeat the ends of justice. Yet the attorney for the company has been served with a copy of the papers in the case."

Like the Ostrich.

It is stated that while other similar suits will follow, that this particular suit was begun because the statutes of limitation would soon be a bar to the suit. If the officials desire secrecy by notifying first the attorney for a coal company, their tactics are about as consistent and will be just about as effective in securing the desired result as the attempt of an ostrich to hide its body by sticking its head into the sand.

If collusion exists between land grabbers, as it is alleged, the best and most effective manner to spread information among the gang would be to give notice to one of them that the war is on. If publicity would be a disadvantage they have taken the best possible means to secure that disadvantage. If, as it has been mysteriously alleged, that great frauds have been committed and published, yet in the name of the law and of the law and of justice by allowing transfers to innocent purchasers to be made, thereby adding to the complexity of the transactions, that notice has been given to every coal and land grabber in the State before the information can be given to them by the public press. If publicity should be avoided and there is a multiplicity of suits to be brought, the wisdom of bringing a single suit under the pressure of time and thus notifying all the interested parties, is not apparent.

Busy Coming and Going.

There has been a busy coming and going between Washington and Salt Lake by a mysterious crowd of public functionaries for nearly two years in connection with alleged land frauds. Their work has been kept quiet in Utah under the guise of unavoidable business, yet in Secretary Hitchcock's report of a year ago, the fact that such investigations were being made was announced in the most public manner. There have been representatives, inspectors and detectives sufficient to guard the entire coal regions of Utah and now that the long deferred prosecutions are said to be begun the initiative is a civil action against one of the leading companies that are generally reported to have been greedy in gobbling land, and the property in question is a single act.

How Situation Is Viewed.

The situation as it has developed looks more like giving notice to the violators than to the public, and the notice is such that it will injure to the benefit of those who should answer for their misdeeds.

TO SET ASIDE DEEDS TO LAND

Action Begun in Federal Court
Against a Leading Coal Company.

HAS AN AIR OF MYSTERY ABOUT IT

Effort Made to Suppress Publici-tation by Representatives
From Washington.

An action has been begun by the Department of Justice in the Federal court against one of the leading coal companies in Utah to set aside a deed to a certain tract of coal land. It is in the form of a bill in equity, and it is said that this is only a precursor of numerous other similar actions that will soon be begun.

The representatives of the Federal Government, who came here direct from Washington, instructed the clerk of the Federal court not to make public their action, claiming that its publication might defeat the ends of justice. Yet the attorney for the company has been served with a copy of the papers in the case.

Like the Ostrich.

It is stated that while other similar suits will follow, that this particular suit was begun because the statutes of limitation would soon be a bar to the suit.
